May 18 Cemetery Tour

To Salem area's historic cemeteries and Schreiner's Iris Gardens.

Our cemetery historian/tour leader Stan Clarke knows where the bones are buried and where they are not. In case you missed it, a story in the April 7 Oregonian told of the placing of two gravestones at Riverview Cemetery in Portland for Thomas Thorp, and his wife, Mandana, both Civil War veterans.

If you read the rest of it, you found that Thorp was believed to be buried in Corvallis. So, not long ago, a Civil War marker was placed there honoring him. But Stan did a bit more sleuthing, tracked down Mandana's grave in Portland, and discovered that her husband had been moved from Corvallis to a place beside her. That led to a flurry of correspondence in Corvallis from a cemetery official who said: "Guess who isn't buried in our cemetery? People wonder why our cemetery tours are so popular. Stan and his stories are a great part of it. Join us May 18 for our annual tour to Salem's historic cemeteries. The bus will leave the Barn Museum at 9 a.m., Saturday, May 18. The tour is $10 per person and please bring a sack lunch, a drink, and wear comfortable shoes and clothes. For more information call the office, 503-661-2164, to make your reservations.

Clarence Mershon Honored

Clarence Mershon, historian of the Historic Columbia River Highway, was twice honored at our April 21 annual meeting. Clarence is ill and in hospice. Our program on him was a video prepared by Len Otto. President David Ripma announced Clarence as Member of the Year 2013 and Len Otto said that the highway exhibit committee — now fundraising for a barn exhibit on the historic highway — will dedicate that exhibit to Clarence in honor of his countless contribution to local history. His work on the historic highway is a lasting legacy.

Bridge Party and Brunch draws 80 for highway event

The ghost of highway builder Sam Lancaster and a host of Troutdale citizens dressed in black with top hats (likely Troutdale's city officials didn't look that good back in 1913) gathered at the Sandy River to wish our 100 year old bridge a happy birthday on Saturday, April 20, 2013.

red vest and a frock coat. Darn, it was fun. Caterers Cherie and Steve Wallace provided a tomato Aspic—among other great foods—to add a sense of history (The leftovers went to Zarephath Kitchen's free lunch program in Gresham).

Chet Orloff, former director of the Oregon Historical Society, invoked the ghost of Sam Lancaster.

The event, which was followed by a brunch and Professor Steve Lehl's magic lantern slide show in the Sam K. Cox Hall, was intended to make friends, and a bit of money, for our Historic highway exhibit in the barn. About 80 people joined us for the event, including the Davis/Peetz sisters, Penny Labberton, Elaine Davis and Cathy Peetz, who looked like they stepped off the pages of the Sear Roebuck catalog. Jean Holman and Julie Stewart went for a 1930s look.

The Friends of Vista House were there in turn of the century outfits. Professor Lehl and his wife, Judy, were in their very best duds, Lehl in top hat, silken

Kristin Stallman from the state highway department gave a history of the bridge. Dave Ripma and Mario Ayala put on big black bow ties and ran a small champagne concession for toasting. Jim Clark of the Gresham Outlook clambered down the east bank of the river and braved flood conditions to get a picture of all of us lined up on the bridge. At the east end, dressed as a proper Victorian Librarian, Diane Castillo-White did her best to give away birthday cupcakes to motorists, but there were very few takers. She did give a few people directions, however. The idea, of course, is to begin to gather sponsors at $1,000 each to help pay the costs of our highway exhibit. Sue Handy has prepared a scale to show our progress, a yellow line running up a black highway.

Bridge Party Volunteers:

Thank you all: At the Harlow House and Barn, Mona Mitchoff and Jim Glenn: Running the cutest little cupcake stand ever, Diane Castillo-White; dish garden centerpieces, Sheila Bozicovich; printing of brochures and the toasting tent, Dave Ripma, Mario Ayala; photographer, Jim Clark; table set-up, emergency backup and general hauling; Sue and Greg Handy, Julie Stewart, Steve, Lehl, Gloria Otto, Gloria and Chris Trabacca; policing, City of Troutdale; speakers/presenters: Chet Orloff, Kristin Stallman, Steve Lehl; graphics and displays, Sue Handy, Jeanette Kloos. Thanks to Jack's Snack N' Tackle for use of their space. And the Oregon Highway Department

And thank you to those who came dressed for the times: At right, Cathy Peetz, Cindy Labberton and Elaine Davis.

The smallest task helps a lot! All of these things are part of our mission to gather, preserve and make available the history of our area.

Terry's Going Away Party

The Tuesday Ladies said their goodbye to Terry by making her an honorary member.

Thanks to City Hall, Terry's cake was topped with real fruit.

Everyone enjoyed the food. Mona brought the greatest bake beans in the world. Tons of mac and cheese, and Buster's BBQ to top it all off.

After six years with the Troutdale Historical Society, Terry Huston is saying her good-byes to old friends, who humor, and dedication will be hard to replace.

The Director's Chair

Although, I can not replace Terry, I will do my best to serve all members of the Troutdale Historical Society. I have begun to update the membership database and notice that we have a large membership, which I will be encouraging to become more active. We need your help can you host a museum, help with events, archiving, taking pictures, helping with the news letter, anything you can do will be greatly appreciated.

At this time I realize that many of us have seen our disposable incomes shrink some, however a little of your time is just as important as donating money to help keep The Harlow House and Barn Museums open for the one day a month they are schedule to be open.

There are no skill requirements just a pleasant smile and a desire to meet new people and explain Nell Simien your long rich heritage.

We are hoping to get a group of interested members together for host training session this month. If you could spare some time we would love to have you come on down and join us. You may call the office at 503-661-2164 or our website at www.info@troutdalehistory.org

The June and July edition of our THS newsletter will be combined. The deadline for news for June edition is mid-June.

New

Member Sharon Petri sends an obituary for Howard H. L. Green who died February 29, 2013 at the age of 73. We did not know him personally, but enjoyed his work of restoring the Balch Hotel in Dufur when we went there on a trek. We had dinner at the hotel that night. Thanks to Ken Funk of the Sandy Historical Society who came to our Centennial Third Grade Tour April 9 dressed as a fur trapper. Ken volunteers at the Sandy Historical Museum researching families, cataloging books and helping set up displays. Thanks, too, to Jim Glenn, author of the great boy adventure stories in our newsletter, who has agreed to host occasionally in the Barn and Harlow House Museums. He was on hand for the third-grade tour, sort of a trial by fire.

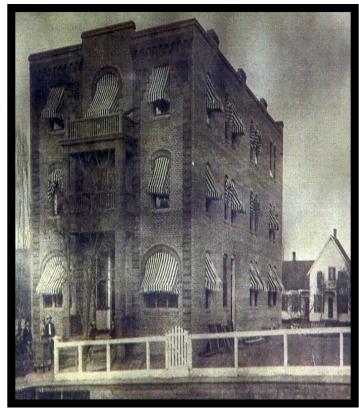

Mother Francine Cardew, founding sister of the nuns at Bridal Veil, died in April.

Also, regarding Sandy Historical Society, their quilt show runs from June 27 to June 29, opening at 10 a.m. in the old Sandy High School..

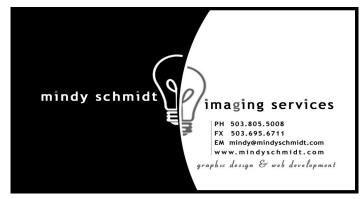

Originally built as the county poor farm in 1911 and later used as a retirement home, Edgefield is today a national historic landmark featuring a hotel, pubs, restaurants, gardens, distillery, winery, artwork, spa, golf course and beyond...
